FINN GENERAL WHO NOW THANKS U.S. FOR AID PLOTTED TO INVADE U.

Kurt Wallenius, Now Commanding White Guard In North, Led Reign of Terror Against Unions, Kidnaped President

By Art Shields

Kurt Wallenius, the fascist general commanding the anti-Soviet armies in north Finland, planned to invade the USSR several years ago with the help of the Baltic states and Great Britain.

Wallenius, former chief of staff of the Finnish armies, was secretary-general of the Lapua fascist movement that went through the countryside in 1930, burning, shooting and kidnapping, in the service of the timber barons, the rich farmers and banks.

His gangsters, whom the Social Democrats support ay, smashed the trade union movement and overturned Finnish government.

Said the Literary Digest of March 12, 1932, about

"Followers of Wallenius and Kozola . . . wrought terror and havoc in various parts of Finland.

"As early as the first part of February, the Helsing-fors correspondent of the London Daily Herald informs us, armed bands of Lapuans roved the country, burn-ing down houses, raiding Socialist educational meetings and threatening the lives of trade union officials.

"So swiftly and unexpectedly do they swoop down on houses and halls, this informant relates, that they can break up meetings, fire the premises and escape efore help arrives."

The same thug-Wallenius-who directed these strocities, asked Americans several days ago to send him arms to save "civilization."

PLANNED INVASION

Wallenius almost became fascist dictator then, with the intention, says New York Times cables from Helsingfors, of leading an international invasion of the Soviet n. More of this later.

Congress appropriated approximately $773,000,000 for naval use this year, which will be supplemented by the $140,000,000 in the anticipated deficiency bill This total still is nearly $300,000,000 below the $1,200,000,00 estimate of what the navy will get fc. use 1940-41.

TO INCREASE AIR FORCE

The increase is laid to the gener naval expansion program and to the increase in elisted personnel. For many years the navy's enlisted manpower stood at 111,000, but Mr. Roosevelt ordered that this be " lt up to 145,000 in order to man new ships now under construction and to put 100 per cent crews on all ships. The navy had been operating on a basis of 85 per cent crews. Mr. Roosevelt indicated he felt full complements should be placed aboard all ships because of the war.

In addition, the navy is building un its air force rapidly, and is expected to reach its authorized maximum air force 3,000 planes next year. Originally, this goal was not expected to be reached util 1940 Cong.ess is expected to approve the navy's request for $28,000,000 to pur-chas: 518 new planes, which would give the navy ias full 3,000 plane force. In the case of another woman, a pregnant mother, she has been ordered by the doctor to stay off her feet as much as possible and avoid putting any unnecesary strain on her feet. NURSES' REPORTS

In one case, one of the hospitals reported the serious results coming from lack of transportafacilities. A woman of 42 had been suffering for 18 years with an ulcer. It extended over her leg-almost from knee to ankle. She had been coming three times a week to the dispendoctor had been working intensively on her case. In the crisis, the relief agency had been unable to furnish her with car tickets. She tried to walk to the pital-much against the doctor's orders. Her treatment had been interrupted, much to the detriment of her condition.

The following report from one problem of obtaining carfare for transportation to the dispensaries district who was ten pounds un-Her father was unable to take her back to have the test read be-cause he had no money for car-fare. The doctor in the hospital earlier had said as soon as the relief situation was remedied he would put the child on a special diet and order a quart of milk a day for her.

In addition to the specific situations Elustrated, there were 64 cases of acute illness and 21 chromic illnesses. In 48 cases where relief had been cut off or reduced, there had been previous under-nourishment and general bad health had been reported.

In addition to the effects on physical health there are many indications of the consequences of the crisis on mental attitudes. In cases there were definite indications of a trend toward de-linquent behavior. In one case, example, there was a story of two single boys, brothers, aged 17 and 24, living together. The elder boy had been employed in a knitting mill but had lost his job on Nov. 8. The younger boy was making $3.59 a week on a newspaper route. The boys had paid their rent and food from the savings of the elder and could the savings of the elder and could continue to manage food on the $3.50 income of the younger. The younger boy, however, badly needed warm clothes and overshoes for his paper-selling. Both the elder brother and the Emergency Division of Charities and Relief worker were concerned about the effect of the cutting off in relief on the younger boy, and the possibility that with inadestealing to meet his needs.

FORCED TO STEAL

In another case where a woman and seven children were formerly getting $17.55 for a two-week period when the order was reduced der the additional pressure, the mother threatened to desert the family and the older boys seemed to be in danger of turning to delinquency. In both these cases the situation had reached only the point of being considered dangerous by the worker.

In two cases it was reported that the family had been stealing ceal because of lack of heat. The mother reported that she knew the boys were picking up railroad coal and that she did not want her boys stealing and was afraid they might be shot by a watchman. In another case the mother sent the boys out to steal coal and they were brought in to the and they were brought in to the Juvenile Court as a result.

There is constant reference throughout the cases of loss of morale and inevitable discourage-ment and distress at the uncer-tainty. One of the nurses sum-marized it as follows: "In general our nurses have commented that there was a widespread feel inst there was a widespread reliing of 'what's the use' among the people who were being affected by this relief crisis. We had some of the older people saying they could live on bread and coffee;
that it was only right that the families with children should get that it was only right that the families with children should get the orders. It was utterly impossible to talk in terms of positive health; they had nothing to go on and those who had been on relief for some time had so little a margin of safety that a few days without food and their stores were depleted."

Another nurse reported. "Prob-bably the most outstanding efbably the most outstanding ef-fect that was noticed in our fam-ilies at that time was that of a feeling of apprehension; that of a dread fear of not having enough to eat. Fuel was being conserved as much as possible and in many of the homes the places damp and chilly. Families told about other families who were not being limited or deprived of their fuel and grocery orders, feeling that discriminations were being made. It re-quired a great deal of interpreta-tion on the part of the nurses to correct some of the hearsay being spread very fast throughout the district."

of what one may think about the program of the American League for Peace and Democracy, the fact remains that no evidence was produced by the Dies Com-mittee to substantiate its charge that the League was dominated by Communists. Moreover, the committee continually blocked the national chairman of the League, Dr. Harry P. In other words, it ap-pears that the committee was pears that the committee was "inquiring" not into facts, but into opinion.

We believe that if the Dies Committee is permitted to proceed in this irresponsible manner such protection as is afforded to minority opinion in the United States by the Bill of Rights will soon be gone and we shall be liv-ing under a dictatorship.

Escarole and chicory are members of the same botanical family, both being species of the endive group, and many housewives, not fully acquainted with these two greens, often find it difficult to distinguish between them.

However, there is a decided difference. The Batavian variety of escarole, which is the one most widely cultivated, has broad, thick leaves, which are rounded at the end, and slightly wrinkled.

Chicory, often referred to as curly endive, has a large, flat-head and leaves that are definitely curied. The outside leaves are greem, and the inside yellow. Just now, practically all of the chicory

As Congress Meets

 As Congress convenes today it will have before it a stern warning from the CIO that the first quarter of the New Year holds the threat of industrial recession accompanied by increased unemployment and distress.

In its outline of the economic situation for 1940, the CIO states:

"The simple fact that armament expenditures are to substitute for expenditures on public works which go very quickly into the hands of workers, is probably the most discouraging single factor in the

At the same time, each member of Congress is receiving an important letter from 75 nationally prominent social work leaders, declaring that "the wars in Europe and Asia supply no economic basis for the discontinu-ance or reduction of any of the public and private social services now being offered the American people."

But "reduction" and "discontinuance" of services which are already entirely inadequate, is exactly what a majority in Congress have in mind. The Roosevelt Administration and the Republican Party now see practically eye to eye on a program for hacking away at social services in order to provide fuel for the war machine. This was amply demonstrated in the shocking relief crisis in Cleveland, when the Republicans cheerily denied its existence while Roosevelt demagogically offered "soup kitchens."

The vivid and terrifying report of the American Association of Social Workers on the Cleveland hunger wave, now being run serially in the Daily Worker, is a grim prophecy of what will happen throughout the entire country, unless the present Congress hears in unmistakable tones from the people, the unemployed and, above all, the trade union movement.

They Have the Same Philosophy

· It was expected, as we pointed out a few days ago, that the open-shoppers and their sanctimonious stooges would seize upon the recent action of James C. Petrillo in Chicago to attack the whole labor movement.

Petrillo, reactionary head of the Chicago Federation of Musician's (A. F. of L. affiliate). in an attack upon the CIO, had all mention of John L. Lewis and the CIO withdrawn from three plays, on a threat to call out the organized musicians.

Now Dorothy Thompson, Herald Tribune columnist and one of Wall Street's best "tear jerkers," had this to say yesterday:

"Mr. Petrillo . . . is in the safest place for any gangster in the United States to be today, namely, as the official of a trade union."

This, of course, is an irresponsible attempt to smear the entire trade union movement, placing it all in the category of Pet-Actually, Dorothy Thompson and her Wall Street masters, are responsible for such reactionary elements as Petrillo in the labor evement. They use them to slander the CIO as Petrillo did, and to betray the interests of the A. F. of L. rank and file, as Petrillo does. The source to look to for gangsterism, so far as labor is concerned, is the labor spy system of the Henry Fords and Girdlers, which is responsible for violence and terror against the workers. Wherever the open-shoppers hold sway, there one will find political corruption and anti-labor reac-Petrillo has the same reactionary social philosophy as the Dorothy Thompsons-and the whole lot of them are a danger to the A. F. of L. membership as to the entire CIO.

A Disturbing Greeting

It was a depressing and seriously disturbing New Year's greeting which Mayor LaGuardia gave to the people of New York on Monday.

At a time when Wall Street and the warmongers of every breed are pressing for a sharp reduction on all social measures, Mayor LaGuardia chose as the theme of his message to the City Council "economy."

"I beg you on bended knee," said the "not to send any legislation across the hall that carries with it expenditures or entails additional charges on our treasury.'

Conditions among the common peopleespecially among the thousands who are unthrough no fault of their ownare such that the defense and extension of social legislation is the prime need of the day. Ninety thousand jobless men applied the other day for 2,000 Civil Service jobsbut at the very moment the Mayor was halting the employing of 3,500 men by the Civil Service. The costs of living is rising daily while the city administration proposes to the Civil Service Commission a $60 annual wage cut affecting 14,000 city employees. The schools, health and other social projects al-ready hard hit by the last legislature, were again socked by the Mayor's capital outlay budget.

These actions, together with the Mayor's message to the Council, will bring great comfort to the Tammany Council majority whose reactionary theme song is also "economy." Like the Roosevelt administration does nationally, the Mayor, in words and deeds, is proceeding to gear the city to a "war emergency." But with more vigor and unity than ever, the trade unions and the people will have to press the fight for social needs, in the city and in Albany.

The Origin and Purpose Of a War-Mongering Lie

· One of the most outrageous lies ever peddled by the petty gossipy column of Os-wald Garrison Villard in The Nation magazine was the following:

"One other piece of bad news I must give. It is widely believed in responsible circles in Germany that part of the bargain with Stalin calls for the application of the Nuremberg laws to Russian Jews, and that this will be done within six months from the signing of the pact (non-aggression pact—Ed.). It is not thought that such laws will actually be put on the statute books. Stalin will simply give certain orders; that will be enough." (Dec. 30

Regardless of where Villard picked this up, it is plain that he is here becoming the bearer and propagator of its foul content, and equally guilty with the liars who allegedly gave him the "inside dope."

There is not only the general policy of the Socialist Soviet Union from its very inception, that is of complete equality and freedom for all minorities and nationalities, but this is expressed in the Stalin Constitution which makes anti-Semitism and other racial discrimination a crime.

Just recently in last week's elections for local Soviets in eight Union Republics of the USSR, one of the outstanding features was the great number of Jewish workers, intellectuals and collective farmers who were nominated and elected. Solomon Mikhoels, People's Artist of the Republic, was elected to the Moscow City Soviet, along with Jacob Smushkevich, twice awarded the title of Hero of the Soviet Union and present chief of the Air Forces of the Red Army, Dr. B. Sheelovich, director of the largest hospital in the Soviet Union (the Botkin hospital), Solomon Pevzner, store manager, and others. They are only typical of the thousands of Jewish people-too numerous to mentionwho were among the newly-elected deputies to the local Soviets.

The contemptible slander which Villard promotes is of a piece with the rest of the anti-Soviet lies which are published daily by the capitalist press to incite war hysteria. It is a disservice to the Jewish people as to all other decent Americans.

Villard gives an example of how such fantastic lies start, their purpose and just how much faith the American people can put in the capitalist press and its "liberal" warmongering stooges.

The Hoover 'Relief' Fund Looks Phony to the Workers

. Distrust is growing, especially throughout the labor movement, over the Let's-Help-Baron-Mannerheim drive. The very fact that Herbert Hoover is one of the chief instigators of this movement in itself arouses suspicion on the part of many people who are not otherwise acquainted with the facts in the Finnish situation.

This suspicion is reflected in the leading editorial in "Labor," organ of the railway unions, which comments sarcastically on the fact that "it is very noticeable that many of those most conspicuous in the movement to relieve distress in foreign lands, are now, and for years have been, insisting that Uncle Sam must balance his budget without regard to the effect on the unemployed.'

As a matter of fact, there is no contradiction between what reactionaries like Hoover are doing in Finland and their policy in the United States. The Tories know that the fight between the Soviet Union and the Finnish White Guards, is a fight for the security of the Socialist Republic-a struggle which has been instigated by the most powerful financial circles of London and Wall Street. The reactionaries look upon the destruction of the Soviet Union as one of the necessary steps in the suppression of the rights of the people here at home. That is why they are trying, as the Cleveland Union (CIO) Leader suggests, to "use the Finnish relief mission and the Finnish people for the purpose of drawing America into a terrible, bloody war."

Nor is Hoover the sole culprit in this fiendish plan. It will be remembered that it was Mrs. Roosevelt who first publicly proposed that the Great Engineer start gathering in the people's money for Baron Man-nerheim. Actually, the "relief" drive is only one link in a chain of anti-Soviet actions engineered from the White House and the State Department.

The Mannerheim "relief" drive directly menaces the peace of the country. The labor movement should openly combat this hypocritical campaign and roundly condemn leaders like Matthew Woll, David Dubinsky and Sidney Hillman, for lending their names to this step toward American involvement in NEWS ITEM: Wartime profit taking brought dividends declared last month by major United States corporations to the highest December total since 1937—$386,878,711.

If You Want Peace for America, Are You 'Dangerous'?

The extent to which the war psychology has seized the press is demonstrated by the spiteful anger with which the World-Telegram comments on the actions of the American Students Union.

It seems that the students' recent convention actually dared to vote their opposition to war, and even refused to believe the headlines of the press on the Finnish situation, refusing to join the war cry against the USSR on the basis of the press incitements.

For this simple difference of opinion with the Government and the Hoover gang the World-Telegram urges that the Dies Committee and the Department of Justice "maintain a watchmul eye" on the American Students Union! Think of it! The students don't take the word of Baron Mannerheim or Hoover-and they instantly become objects of police surveillance. They immediately forfeit their rights as Americans; they lose the Bill of Rights!

The students' convention, as every person in his right mind knows, was not a Communist convention, and the ASU is not a Communist organization. But it is sufficient for them merely to oppose America's entrance into war and to be cautious of prowar propaganda coming from Finland for them to be "attacked" as Communists, as if to be a Communist automatically removes you from the pale of the Bill of Rights. This flagrant contempt for the democratic right of all Americans, Communist and non-Communist, to differ with Hoover or the Government on the war situation in Europe proves what a menace to all Americans is the Dies Committee trick of turning the word "Communist" into a "bad word.

In England, the University of Labor Federation, a group of students of leading universities, declared this week its refusal to support what it calls "an imperialist war." Instantly they were greeted by a charge of "Communist domination" by a servile Laborite, Mr. Arthur Greenwood, It is the same trick as the World-Telegram's. It seems to be a mere detail that England is already at war and America is not yet in it. The pro-war provocateurs act similarly in both places. To the people's desire for peace they can only yell "Communist," and hint police action. And these are supposed to be the "democracies," fighting for "freedom." In 1917, papers like the Telegram were shrieking "string him up" when any honest American refused to believe that the House of Morgan was "fighting for democracy." The purpose of editorials like the Telegram's and the lying newspaper headlines on Finland are aimed at reviving that kind of hysterical terrorism against the Bill of Rights. It should alarm and arouse the nation be-

Questions and Answers

WILLIAM Z. FOSTER

Question—What is the difference in attitude reen pacifists and Communists towards war? Answer-Pacifists condemn all wars and ore the social and historical conditions that sive rise to them. The result is that in the face of a progressive war, as for example, the present Chinese war, they would prevent the masses from rallying in its support; while in the case of a reactionary war, as for example the present European imperialist war, they would hinder the struggle of the people against it.

Communists determine their atitude toward a given war, either civil or international, on the hasis of whether it is a just or unjust war, that is, whether it is a war of the people for freedom and national independence against their oppressors, or whether it is a war of imperialist states against one another for the purpose of enslaving each other's people. Thus, the Communists give their heartiest support to such wars as the American Civil War of 1861-65, to the Russian revolutionary war of 1918-20 against the imperialist intervention, to the Spanish masses' fight against Franco and the German and Italian fascist invaders; and also to the Chinese people's defense of their national independence against the Japanese imperialists; while the Communists condemn and relentiessiy oppose such imperialist mass slaughters as the World War of 1914-18 and also the present imperialist war between the Allies and Germany. In the World War Lenin put out his famous slogan to transform the imperialist war into civil war; a slogan which later took form and substance in the Russian Revolution. would hinder the struggle of the people against it. took form and substance in the Russian Revolution

Question—Do the Negroes and other oppressed peoples of America, the West Indies, Africa and elsawhere stand to gain anything from the present imperialist war if England and France are victorious?

Answer—Victory for either of the two groups of warring imperialists will bring no relief to the oppressed Negro people, nor to other colonial and semi-colonial peoples in this or any other country. Great Britain and France, holding the largest colonial compires in the world are more responsible than any other powers for the unbearable world conditions in which the colonial people now find themselves. Hence, it would be absurd to expect any improvement for these exploited millions to come as a result of an Allied victory. And, considering the Nazis' deepseated racial intolerance and imperial Germany's typical unsavory colonial record, there is also not the slightest prospect that a victory by that country would in any way relieve the situation of the colonial populations. Imperialism, by its very nature, produces and depends upon the environment.

in any way relieve the situation of the colonial populations. Imperialism, by its very nature, produces and depends upon the oppression of colonial peoples.

If the Negroes and other oppressed people are to improve their conditions they must take the matter in hand themselves (together with their natural proletarian allies in the imperialist countries), and not naively wait around for their oppressors to set them free as a reward for having supported the war. Let them (including American Negroes) remember that them (including American Negroes) remember that they got nothing out of fighting the last war, except more exploitation and suppression. Especially now that the war is on, is the strategic time for the colonial and other downtrodden peoples to insist upon their rights. While their greedy exploiters are locked in battle among themselves over their look, that is the opportunity for the downtrodden to make hay on their own account. The great people of India, by coming forward at this precise juncture with demands upon Great Britain for national independence, are showing good political horse-sense. They are setting an example which the oppressed peoples of the world might well copy, and one that the working class of all the capitalist countries could also profitably learn from

Question—Why is "Gone With the Wind" so dan-gerous at this particular time?

Answe—Margaret Mitchell's "Gone With the Wind," is the most reactionary book that ever secured such a large mass circulation in this country. It is an open and brazen defense of slavery, and Negro oppression, and it constitutes an insult and an injury to the Negro people. The motion picture of the same cloth and is open to the same condemnation.

In these days when the war-mongers are trying to demoralize the peace-minded masses and herd them into war they seize upon every reactionary weapon to sow suspicion, distrust, confusion and division among the people. Race hatred, religious bigotry, anti-Semitism, anti-foreignism, anti-redism,—all are grist to the mill of the war-making reactionaries. That is why a picture like "Gone With the Wind," justi-fying white-chauvinism, is such a menace, particularly at this time. It gives encouragement to the very and most dangerous currents in our national life.

An Antidote for a Vicious Poison-New York City.

Editor, Daily Worker:

While coming to work this morning, I noticed some of the most horrible sights imaginable. Countless thousands of persons were unknowingly drinking in the vilest poisons ever conceived by man. Not the poison that mercifully kills after it is taken, but the type of poison that is absorbed through the eyes, relayed to the brain, and starts its attack there. Soon its effects are noticed. Clear sane thinking becomes impossible and intelligent reasoning is transformed into moronic hate. Editor, Daily Worker:

Chicago, Ill.

Recently a group of us, teachers in the Chicago area, finished a week of intensive study of some of the principles of Marxism. The climax of our study came on Thursday evening, Stalin's birthday.

We finished later than usual-it was about tenbecause we needed to complete our discussion of the organizational principles of the Party. Our teacher ended his summary by pointing out the great contributions of Comrade Stalin to the building and strengthening of our Party, and, just as he finished our leader walked in with a surprise birthday cake boldly lit with one red candle. It had been specially baked that afternoon and was inscribed with a greeting to Stalin. As we gathered around admiring it, two of the comrades passed around glasses of wine that they had quietly poured in the kitchen. Amid the general galety and cries of "To Socialism!" and "To Stalin!" one of the comrades spoke up in words measured and calm but carrying deep feeling, as follows:

"Comrades: I wish to propose a toast—"To the health of Comrade Stalin"—and that in drinking this toast we should understand that by wishing health to Comrade Stalin we are wishing health to the Communist Party and success to socialism in the world. We sil know how much the continued years of Comrade Stalin's life have meant to this cause. Therefore each of us, drinking this toast, should pledge himself to strengther his cause, understanding of the himself to strengthen his own understanding of the teachings of Marx, Engels, Lenin and Stalin, so that of the Party and the victory of the revolution, shall have carried into action the deepest meaning of our toast "To the health of Comrade Stalin."

The toast was drunk in silence. Afterwards we sang revolutionary songs and various comrades to about the leaders of our Party and their contributions to revolutionary thought. All of us will remember the evening. It deepened our pride in being members of

The comrades commissioned me the next day to tell you about our birthday celebration and to ask you to convey to Comrade Stalin, along with our greetings coming to you, our own: "In wishing health and long life to Comrade Stalin, the leader of the workers of the world, we pledge ourselves to strengthen our derstanding of the teachings of Marx, Engels, Lenin

At first we thought of cabling the greeting, but decided that it would be more in keeping with Comrade Stalin's own style of work if we devoted the money to the furtherance of Marxist education. Accordingly, we contributed the whole of our surplus fund of $69 to the Workers' School here.

CHANGE THE WORLD

Try to Solve That Little Contradiction on Your Logical Paino!

By MIKE GOLD

N AN interview with the press recently, Attorney General Frank Murphy said he was out to prosecute fascist foreign agents and anti-Semites.

When asked would he get after Father Coughlin, the prosecutor mumbled he had never heard of any anti-Semitism by Coughlin and his mobs.

This means that Mr. Murphy has not read a newspaper or listened to a radio for the past three years. Or it means that he is trying hard to evade a great issue.

John L. Spivak has made some very serious charges against Coughlin in the New Masses. They include the charge of raising money under false pretenses, of working in collusion with Nazi agents, and of playing the stock market with public funds.

Spivak has challenged Coughlin to bring a libel suit where these charges might be aired in court. If Spivak cannot prove them in a court, he has a sweet case of criminal libel hanging over him, with possibly a big fine and some years in Jall.

But Spivak feels secure enough to take the chance. And Coughlin does not feel secure enough to bring the suit. Coughlin's silence under such circumstances conveys an atmosphere of guilt. And the silence of Frank Murphy is also a dublous silence.

Jewish organizations are being whipped by fascist-minded Jewish leaders into the forefront of the lynching bee aganist the Soviet Union. But they ought to take time off from their red-bailing to attend to their own special Jewish interests for a moment.

Anti-Semitism is still a strong insidious and unbroken movement in America. Hundreds of thousands of scurrilous leaflets are still circulated. Many meetings are still held over the nation. Groups are still being organized, thousands of dollars still raised from the boobs.

And Coughlin is still the centre of the great spider web where all this policy of race hards it concerted. He many the salies have the results of the strong the salies of the salies of the strong the salies of the salies poison of race hatred is concocted. His magazine has slightly toned down its anti-Semitism, but it still preaches pogroms. It still makes new enemies every day for the Jewish citizens of America.

Why don't the Jews defend themselves? Why do they think the events in Finland threaten them so much, while Coughlin threatens them not at all?

One answer, of course, is that the Jewish reactionary leaders, the Dubinskys, Waldmans, Cahans, Rabbi Wises, et al, feel very safe in denouncing the Soviet Union. It is an easy way to be a hero. But it takes guts to fight Coughlin. Powerful capitalist interests like Ford and others shield him. No capitalist newspaper dared to print a word of spivak's charges against Coughlin. Even the Jewish bourgeois press was allent. And even the government itself seems afraid to touch him, it

East Meets West and Learns One Hand Shot

By Lester Rodney

The local basketball world is sort of staggering under the impact of the recently concluded and highly successful Western invasion, which saw five of six invaders lick a like number of our local heroes on the Garden floor. Before we go any further let it be said that it is hardly fair to the New York teams accept these intersectional games as a general barometer of the er of play in the various sections,

Only the best of the teams from other parts of the country are brought into the Garden. They're champions all and the local units have to meet them year in and year out just as they happen to find themselves. For instance this year CCNY is subpar and was trimmed by a great Santa Clara of California team. Next year Holman's youngsters will conceivably, with a year's experience, be better than the Santa Clara team which loses most of its present senior operatives. But—and this is the blg point to remember-next year the Santa Clara team won't be back. With full roster knowledge and incoming material dope available, schedule maestro Ned Irish is able to hit the best teams right on the nose in making his schedules. The truth of the matter, as you no doubt suspect, is that no one section can claim a monopoly on basketball talent or supremacy. And New York City need hardly bow its head to any broad section in producing great teams. With all the somewhat premature and loose talk of "Western Supremacy" and "superior technique" we hear at the moment, the fact remains that last year's Long Island University team was indisputably the best team in the country, and that this year's New York University team may well succeed it as national best. Or may not. That's not the point, Point is that New York basketball is at least as good as any other sections. The swingback from the earlier and equally seous conception held around here before these intersectional games that the only good basketball played was right here has gone too far now in the other direction

With that general idea out of the way, it's very interesting to cuss the one-handed shot, the set play and other more or less novations that the Western teams have brought in which are already begining to subtly change the nature of play on our local teams-for the better, let it be said.

New York teams have usually concentrated on two hand shooting om any distance away from the basket, under and directly around hich of course, layups on the run were made with one hand. The one hand idea came to town about four years ago in the person of a one man crusade named Hank Luisetti. The slim, dark boy from the same Telegraph Hill district of Trisco that produced such other great Italian-American athletes as Joe DiMaggio, Frankie Crosetti, Tony Lazzeri and Ping Bodie, took the Garden by storm as he led his Stanford team to victory over LIU with amazing one hand shots off either paw while on the dead run. It was and is almost impossible to uard against this shot, which needs no time for squatting or adjust-

Since then we're seen a lot more good Western teams with boys who lob them off the ear with an amazing percentage of accuracy. Now this one hand heave has always been characterized locally as a "prayer" shot and it was thought of only as heaved in desperation. But with the present speeding of the game and quick breaks down the floor resulting from the elimination of the center tap, getting the ball away in a hurry without stopping to get set has taken on a special value. And as the Western boys have proven that if practiced and mastered it can be much more accurate than a "prayer" heave, local basketball minds are beginning to re-adjust themselves to the facts of life. Yes, even Nat Holman, long and steadfast exponent of two hand shooting, and quite a coach.

The local boys themselves are getting the idea, and thus we can Bobby Lewis, star of NYU, alternating his accurate two hand set at with driving and almost as accurate flips off either hand from the dead run. So did last year's brilliant Danny Kaplowitz of LIU. Others too. And significantly, the best high school team New York has seen in some time, the amazing and unbeaten James Madison of ooklyn team, is looping more of its shots off one hand than any of college teams hereabouts. Coach Jammy Moscowitz, who's seen a come and go, thinks they have to learn the one hand shot while in their teens, and that seems reasonable enough.

Now this doesn't mean that the get set and fire with two Now this doesn't mean that the get set and fire with two hands shot is outmoded. If you think so, try to sell that idea to any of the out-of-town coaches who saw their teams beaten by the amazing accuracy of last year's all time best LIU quintet. From out a distance there's no substitute for the two hand set shot that Clair Bee has the happy faculty of teaching so consistently. I don't think I saw last year's Johnny Bromberg miss more than two shots from way back and a little off to the right last year.

That's about the story of the one hand shot. It's a helpful adjunct the conventional shot in the new and faster game and we'll see e results of that fact more fully soon locally. And here we haven't en talked about the set plays and other West-East comparisons. As you might guess, this is being written in a hurry, so if we can just leave that to the next time. . . .

Daily Worker Contest Editor: Here is my choice for the out-standing athlete of 1939. Joe Louis. Because he takes on all comers, making him the fightingest champ ever. Because big or small, he salts them away, usually in the early rounds. Because he has retained his heavyweight title and another to boot—that of being the cleanest fighter of all time. Never in all his ring career has there even been the whisper of scandal.

Add this together and you have the outstanding athlete ofg not only this year, but the past few years and a few more years to come.
